So what's the difference between Twin Share and Private rooming?

Each of our five room options can be booked as either a Twin Share or a Private, so it's still the same room, the option just depends on if your dog would like to have the room to them self or if they'd prefer to share that room with a friend. With dogs who do not live together at home, we will only board two dogs together at any one time, except under special circumstances, in which case you would be notified about the situation prior to boarding.

If you have a dog who thoroughly enjoys the company of another dog, the Twin Share option may be suitable. We match dogs in the Twin Share option according to size and temperament, so if you have a small, calm dog, your dog would be matched with another dog who is small, who would like to integrate but not be too over the top during play. If you have a large, playful dog, your dog would be matched to someone who wouldn't mind playing the day away with your dog. There are endless combinations of pet traits.

There are instances where you may book your dog into a Twin Share room, but we may not have a dog boarding with us during that time who is suitable to share the room with your dog (eg. Dogs got along but one was much more playful than the other). If this occurs, we will be in touch with you to let you know that we weren't able to find a match.

We are very particular about which dogs share with one another, and our introduction process can take up to 3 or 4 hours. It's most certainly not something we take lightly as we must ensure that both guests will feel comfortable to be with one another during their stay. If there are any signs of anti-social behaviour from either dogs, the introduction process is ceased immediately.

When dogs are matched up, sometimes the dates that their booking goes for does not align. Your dog may be here for seven days, and their initial match may only be here for the first three days. The introduction process begins again once their first match has left.

If your dog has never boarded with us before, it's highly recommended to book them a Private room so that you know the room is readily available for them to have to them self should they require it. It's very easy for us to change to a Twin Share, but due to availability, it's not always easy for us to do it the other way around. Please get in touch with us if you're unsure about which option is best for your dog.

Just like your hotel room, our cat boarding hotel has many luxurious features. In our deluxe rooms, you'll even find chandeliers and French shelves. Your loved one can play chase with catnip toys, get stuck into a scratching post or teddy, or jump up onto a high perch to enjoy the view. When it's time for a nap, your best friend can retreat into a tiny house, savouring a small dark place that can make them feel safe.

In every room, our pet hotel room service includes a litter change twice per day, as well as two room cleans that include replacing bedding and water. Dry food is available during the day, and a tasty wet food meal is provided each evening. These meals are included in the cost of the room. We know that our furry friends prefer their own space, so each cat boarding room is your pet's own, not having to share with anyone else. If you have two guests staying with us, we can either place them together or separately.

We look forward to welcoming your best friend for a marvellous holiday experience. To learn more about our cattery Gold Coast service, simply get in touch.
